

Electronics Technician

JOB DESCRIPTION

TeraSys Technologies LLC is seeking an Electronics Technician to perform on our research and development projects in the areas of custom radio frequency circuits. The Electronics Technician is responsible for the execution of moderately difficult technical tasks with moderate supervision.

JOB DUTIES

Position duties include the execution of technical tasks of moderate difficulty in the domain areas of electronics assembly, printed circuit board component assembly, and electronics compliance testing.

MINIMUM REQUIRED QUALIFICATIONS

- Associate's degree in electronics or equivalent;
- Must be a US citizen (green card holders are not eligible)
- Entry level positions are available; desired experience is at least 3 years of work experience post-baccalaureate
- Technical competency assembling printed circuit boards; soldering of components as small as 0402 case size; understanding of basic electronic test equipment such as digital multi-meters and oscilloscopes; candidates with a familiarity using RF test equipment such as spectrum and network analyzers will be given favorable consideration
- Candidates with past experience designing printed circuit boards or mechanical housings will be given favorable consideration
- Candidates with experience working in a production environment to ISO standards will be given favorable consideration

DESIRED QUALIFICATIONS

TeraSys Technologies is seeking to add an individual capable of adding to our elite team which requires a unique combination of strong technical skills as well as a strong match to our Company culture. In addition to the above named qualifications, we desire an individual who:

- Has excellent skills working in a team either as a leader or team member
- Has a proven track record of consistent professional growth in relevant skills
- Prides themselves on providing world-class Customer Service
- Has a strong understanding of next generation radio and wireless systems

TeraSys Technologies offers an attractive benefits package including a competitive salary, medical, dental, and vision insurance, life insurance, short and long term disability, paid time off and holiday pay, participation in our profit share plan and a retirement plan with company match. Extremely superior candidates may qualify for our equity share Phantom Stock Program.

Ready to apply? We invite you to send your resume along with cover letter to careers@terasys technologies.com and reference job code 118-ET-1101.

TeraSys Technologies LLC is an Equal Opportunity Employer.